Invitation: Arctic 100 Expedition, Northwest Passage, June 30th – July 15th

Dear Sir/Madam,

Last year we invited your organization to plan and participate in a unique Arctic 100 Expedition conducted this summer, during the centenary of Finland's independence and Finland's first year as Chair of the Arctic Council. The Arctic 100 Expedition is an international expedition in Arctic waters on board a Finnish icebreaker. The aim of the journey is to collect and analyze new scientific data and to deepen international cooperation in the field of Arctic research.

Early this year we decided to postpone the Expedition. We are now delighted to inform you, that the Expedition will be executed this summer with multipurpose icebreaker Nordica along the Northwest Passage.

We now invite one or more researchers from your organization to participate in this two-week expedition along the Northwest Passage on board MSV Nordica. We realize that this is last minute especially considering conventional research funding. Therefore, the shared investment required to place a researcher on the vessel has been significantly reduced.

The cost of placing one researcher on this Expedition is EUR 21.000. All researchers accepted to the Expedition are expected to cover their own research as well as their travel costs to either Port of Busan, Republic of Korea, or Port of Dutch Harbor, Alaska, and back home from Nuuk, Greenland. We have tentatively outlined the following schedule for the Expedition.

Tentative Expedition schedule

15 June 2017	Departure of MSV Nordica from the Port of Busan, Republic of Korea
30 June 2017	Boarding for researchers the Port of Dutch Harbor, Alaska
1 July 2017	Departure for the Northwest Passage
15 July 2017	Arrival in Nuuk, Greenlann
